prising paper in the world and a power in the land. Many fortunes have been realized on a sudden by speculation, but the majority are no sooner risen than they are buried. The fortune that abides with a man is built up by the gradual accretions of laborious years. Astor, Vanderbilt and A. T. Stewart earned the bulk of their fortunes after the age of fifty, the fifty years previous being spent in establishing physical health and acquiring business knowledge. Lyman Beecher delivered one of his characteristic discourses before an immense audience. As he stepped from the pulpit, a young man approached him and inquired: "Doctor how long did it take you to get up that sermon." The doctor smiled and said "fifty years sir."

If you have great talents industry will improve them, if you have but moderate abilities industry will supply the deficiency, nothing is denied to well directed labor, nothing is to be obtained without it. Men fail not because they are not willing to work, but because they will not wait. Victory is often a question of time, any man with solid moral purpose, patient industry, plain common sense and unwearying courage, can become a useful and eminent man. Not in a day, week or year, but in a life time. Sit still and die, press on and win. We sacrifice too much for speed, though a good thing to have if not purchased at too high a price. Mushrooms may mature in a night but the cedars of Lebanon grew for fifteen centuries. Every man can succeed in his calling. Do not then stand on the brink of some desired enterprise shivering and trembling, but boldly plunge in and breast the waves.

It is urged there are no vacant places, true, there is a great press of people down stairs but there is plenty of room up stairs. There are more first class places than there are first class men to fill them. The world never needed men worse than to-day. It is seeking for worthy men to bestow its honors on. The business thoroughfares are crowded but the great mass of men are getting up some new patent process by which to overreach fortune, or they are taking some short cut to success, while the few who stick to the old beaten path are distancing all their competitors. Whatever you do do it well, you need not be shy of your ambition, the world respects the man who is trying to make something out of himself. Let your aspirations out. Be strictly honest be above a mean act, be conscientious, be a gentleman, pay your debts, don't idle, don't smoke, chew, swear or drink, be very courageous, concentrate your energies upon one aim, work hard, be patient, hope for the best, and if you fail to reach the goal of your aspirations you will possess the proud consciousness of having done your best, which after all is the noblest success in life. The highest praise bestowed by the Great Master was she hath done what she could.

A Touching Romance.

A number of years ago some miners in Wales, in exploring an old pit that had long been closed, found the body of a young man dressed in a fashion long out of date. The peculiar action of the air of the mine was such as preserved the body so perfectly that it appeared asleep rather than dead. The miners were puzzled at the circumstance. No one in the district had been missed within their remembrance, and at last it was resolved to bring in the oldest inhabitant—an old lady past her eightieth year, who had lived single in the village the whole of her life. On being taken into the presence of the body a very strange scene occurred. The old lady fell on the corpse and kissed it, and addressed it by every term of endearment spoken in a bygone generation. He was her only love, and she had waited for him during her long life. She knew he had not forsaken her. The old lady and the young man had been betrothed sixty years before. The lover had disappeared mysteriously, and she had kept her faith during the long interval. Time had stood still with the young man, but had left its mark on the woman. The miners who were present were a rough set, but very gently and with tearful eyes they removed the old lady to her house, and that night her faithful spirit rejoined that of her long lost lover.

Danenhower's plan for removing to the United States the remains of Lieutenant DeLong and comrades involves and expenditure of $25,000, and is not considered feasible by the congressional committee, to whom the matter was referred.

BATCHELDER'S

Ventilated Egg Case.

Patented February 15, 1881.

Indispensable to Merchants Shippers
And Producers.

THE CHEAPEST AND THE BEST.
THE ONLY PRACTICAL CASE.

The outside frame of this carrier contains five trays, held in place by fasteners at end of case, as seen in cut. These Trays are constructed in reversible halves. The above cut shows one whole tray filled ready to be placed in case, each egg resting in its cardboard socket in such a manner as to be readily counted, candied, or transferred from tray to tray, or case to case without rehandling.

For cold storage this case will store 60 dozen with racks made to receive the half trays, hence this is the cheapest storage case manufactured, saving largely in space.

The manner of holding the eggs on end prevents oscillation, adding, or breakage, and adds greatly to their freshness when carried long in storage. Size of 30 dozen No. 1 cases 25x12x14, weighs 20 pounds.

PRICES IN CHICAGO.

Shipper's No. 1, 30 doz. Case with Fillers complete 65 Cents.
Farmer's No. 1, 15 doz. Case with Fillers complete 55 Cents.
Cardboard Fillers for refilling 20 Cents.
15 per cent. discount on lots of 100 cases.
Batchelder's Egg Tester, testing 6 doz. at once, saves to buyers many times its cost each season. Price $3.00.

By special arrangements made by the manufacturers of this case most Railroads will receive them as fourth class freight.
The 15 dozen case made especially for Farmers' use, sent to any address by express, with out nailing, with full directions for setting up, on receipt of 50 cents. Every Farmer and consumer should have one of these cases, it will save its cost every month. Agents wanted in every county. Address,
